Clubhouse Taxed to Limit and Luncheon Parties Served on Grounds.

A fine gathering marked the sixteenth annual Piping Rock horse show yesday on the grounds of the Piping Rock Club, the proceeds of which will go to the American Red Cross for the relief of French children made destitute by the war. The show was held on the old grounds north of the clubhouse in place of on the polo field, as for some years, and there was an informal air about it. no boxes or grand stand having been built. Nearly 200 autmobiles were parked about the show ring, and were several hundred more in other parts of the grounds, their occu-pants preferring to sit on camp chairs to watch the events or to walk about the field. Several luncheons were served under the trees near the show ring, and the capacity of the club dining room was taxed by those who had come from

LAST PARK CONCERT IS HEARD BY 25,000

Franko Offers All American Orchestral Programme.

The last of the People's Concerts was given in Central Park last night before a crowd of 25,000 persons. Mayor Hylan made a brief speech. The programme was furnished by the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra, conducted by Nahan Franko, and by Mischa Elman, violinist, and Miss Jean Cooper, contraito.

Elman played Saint-Saens's Concerto in B minor, and an air by Bach and Dvorak's Humoresque as encores. Af-ter he had finished Joseph B. Hennessy, Park Commissioner for The Bronx, presented a large American flag to the vio-liniest. Instead of making a speech Eiman played 'The Star Spangled Ban-ner.' Miss Cooper, who appeared to ad-vantage, sang an aria from "Samson and Delila" and "The Long, Long Trail."

Mr. Franko told the audience that the orchestra for the first time had given an entire evening's programme made up of nothing save works by American born composers. Those represented were Reginald deKoven, Henry Hadley, Harry Rowe Shelley, G. W. Chudwick, Edward A. MacDowell and Ethelbert Nevin. The number by Mr. deKoven, which was played for the first time, was a wedding march designed to replace the familiar ones by German composers. an entire evening's programme made up

SOLDIERS NEED COMFORT BAGS. Women Here Who Supply Them

Are Called "Angels." Mrs. Benjamin Girault Lathrop, presient of the American Fund for French Wounded in France, which sent huge supplies to the hospitals in the St. Miniel sector just before Gen. Pershing's recent advance in Lorraine, has received a mes-advance in Lorraine, has received a mes-sage of thanks from a high American army officer at St. Mihiel in which he said: "We don't know what to call you. You are more than women."

OLD SHOES NEEDED FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Victims of German Invasion Want Everything But Derbies and Straw Hats.

Don't throw away an old shoe.
Don't even throw away a shoestring.
Don't waste a petticoat, a glove, or a.

Send them to the nearest Red Cross ollecting centre.

The Red Cross will gather them up, or the Commission for the Relief of Belgium.

Belgium has workers ready to put them in order. Belgium also has thousands of barefooted, half clothed people.

The raucous cry of the ol' clo' man will be absent from New York this week. at least it will if he objects to working when there's no trade. "Pay cash, ol'clo'," will lure nobody, because Belgium is calling for our castoff garments now. The list of don'ts above, will be flourished in everybody's sight, and laundry drivers, shoe salesmen, white goods salesmen and hotel porters white goods salesmen and hotel porters, will take the place of the commercial, ol'clo'men in gathering up New York's old shoes, coats, dresses, &c.

The Red Cross will gratefully accept, anything in the line of wear at any of its thirty-eight special stations—anything except old ball dresses or men's straw hats and derbles, which wouldn't be of much use to civilians in the land, seized by Germany. And rubber goods are taboo. Germany would take rubber.

said: "We don't know what to call you. You are more than women—more than heroines—you are angels."

Mrs. Lathrop says that a delegate of the American Fund is making a personal tour of all the hospitals along the St. Mihlel front. She reports that our American wounded are well cared for by the doctors and nurses, but are in need of the comforts which military hospitals cannot supply. American soldiers, like the French pollus, she says, beg for "comfort bags." For $2 the American Fund for French wounded will send to an American or French soldier a "comfort bag" containing sixteen useful articles, including a pair of woollen socks and a safety razor.

Up to August 1 the American Fund good of mending and making the said of the says which is conducting the drive, says that ticles, including a pair of woollen socks and a safety razor.
